Local News.

The second half of the fall term of the Academy begins next Tuesday.

A bill legalizing the grand list of 1884 in the town of Victory has passed the house.

The granite companies are to cut down their workmen about $1 per day this winter.

If reports are true Capid has been busy among the lady teachers. Seven of them are said to be engaged.

Emerson Hall is selling out his grocery stock in Union block and is expecting soon to vacate his store.

Rev. Mr. Jenkins will begin a series of lectures at the Universalist church next Sunday evening, on the Creation.

Among the junior "honors" presented at Dartmouth Tuesday night was the spade to H. P. Andersen of St. Johnsbury.

David Trull of West Burke has bought the house on Spring street belonging to L. H. Smith of Richmond. Price $4000.

On Friday the house passed the hill, which had previously passed the senate, incorporating the Y. M. C. A. of St. Johnsbury.

The time of some of the trains on the Lake road was changed yesterday. See time card on first page and perhaps say being left.

The docket for the December term of court, which opens Dec. 2, contains 117 cases set for jury, 16 of which are state cases, and 29 to court.

The ladies of St. Andrew's church are canvassing for advertisements for a Christmas calendar, after the idea of the North Church cook book.

A. T. Beane of Boston is spending a week or two among his old friends here. He reports the portrait business much better in Boston at double the price.

An advertisement elsewhere announces the opening of quite a number of valuable building lots at the head of Main street. Also the Carpenter house is for sale.

The Try club, connected with the Universalist church, meets at the vestry to-morrow evening and the comparative notes of city and country life will be discussed.

The polls will open at 9 and close at 3 o'clock next Tuesday, and any voter in the state will have the privilege of voting in the town where he happens to be on that day.

Geo. Barnard of Worcester, Mass., who with his father is engaged in the slating business and slates the North church and the Y. M. C. A. building, was in town over Sunday.

Joseph Super caught his left hand on a circular saw Friday and had two fingers mangled in a painful manner. Unfortunately Joseph has not got an insurance plaster to console him.

Eleven hundred opera chairs, with a place underneath the seat to hang a hat, were to be shipped from New York on Monday and are expected to arrive and be placed in position this week.

The new village building, near Paddock Village bridge, caught fire the other day from the sparks of a tin man's stove, but the flames were extinguished before any great damage was done.

The new choir of the North church, which sang for the first time on Sunday, is composed of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Humphrey, tenor and soprano; Mrs. W. C. Tyler, alto; E. A. Silsby, bass.

Mark D. Smith's shopmates in the scale works surprised him on Monday—his sixty-first birthday—with a new silk hat and pair of gloves. There are many ties of friendship among the workmen in the shops which show themselves on frequent occasions.

Miss Carrie Clark of this place, who has shown literary ability heretofore, and whose productions in both poetry and prose have appeared in the Caledonian, has lately written a story for the Youth's Companion, in competition for a prize, which has been accepted.

A telegram from Walter Croswan at Chicago announces the death on Sunday of his father, Curtis R. Croswan, and that his remains are on the way to St. Johnsbury for interment. Mr. Croswan formerly lived in this town and his mother and family friends are buried here.

George Gillilan, assistant general passenger and ticket agent of the Central Iowa railroad, and wife, of Marshalltown, Iowa, returned to that place on Monday. He has been visiting his father at Barret, and says that he still thinks kindly of old Vermont, although it has been six years since he left.

There are quite a number of cases of typhoid fever in Paddock village and vicinity. The diphtheria, that scourge of childhood, is raging in some parts of the state. The greatest care should be exercised and the most stringent sanitary measures adopted. An ounce of preventive is worth a pound of cure.

Sunday, November 9, is the day set apart throughout all the world as a season of special prayer for young men and the Young Men's Christian associations. That or the following Sunday will be observed in this place by serious to young men in the evangelical churches in the morning and a union meeting in the evening.

The new time-table on the Passumpsic road, which goes into effect next Monday, does not change the hours of the passenger trains, but the freight cars are nearly all changed. The cancelling of the Montreal and Boston day express will be a great disappointment to the travelling public. Another mixed train runs between Newport and Wells River, leaving Newport at 5:35 p. m., passing this place at 9:45.

Mrs. J. W. Balch had a stroke of paralysis on Saturday affecting her left side so that she has not the use of either her left arm or leg. Her mind and speech are not affected and she is comparatively free from pain. It is to be hoped that she will gradually and speedily regain the use of her limbs, and there is considerable ground for such a hope. Mrs. Balch was expecting to spend the winter with her sons in Iowa when this affliction came.

Hon. L. P. Poland, Elisha May, H. C. Bates and W. P. Smith, Esquires, represented St. Johnsbury at the annual meeting of the State Bar association at Montpelier on Tuesday. Judge Ross read a biographical and critical sketch of the late Chief Justice Pierpont of the supreme court of Vermont, of whom he spoke as one who, in some of the points that go to make a good judge, is "the full peer of any of his associates and of any man who has graced the bench of Vermont."

Miss Alice Convery experienced a frightful fall on Sunday. She had returned from church and started to come down the chamber stairs, when she was taken with dizziness or fainting and fell the entire flight head foremost. Her parents were in the house and came at once to her relief, and found her at the foot of the stairs bruised and bleeding. Very fortunately, and almost miraculously, no bones were broken and although internal injuries were at first feared a speedy recovery is now anticipated.

The reader should scan the advertising columns closely these days. The ideas are determined to reduce their stock of heavy goods to save moving them into their new storehouse. Geo. E. Grox, on the avenue, comes out with a new ad. this week. J. A. Bishop thinks he can give points to those wishing tickets west and south. Mrs. E. M. Symonds has opened dressmaking rooms over Miss Bohlen's millinery tomes. Mrs. Helen Carpenter has a new announcement to the ladies in this paper. There are a number of valuable farms offered for sale in this paper, as well as stock, produce and tools.

With a Montreal express train taken off, which is expected to take place commencing next Monday, the Boston mail will reach this place over an hour later—at 4:25 instead of 3:15—on the mail train via White River Junction. This will make two mails to distribute before the postoffice window is opened. It is to be hoped that the new arrangement will have the effect to diminish, rather than increase, the number of people who congregate in the postoffice lobby—the boys improving the opportunity to indulge in snuffing and otherwise annoying older people. After this week the mails will not be ready for delivery much before 6 o'clock, and a tedious wait may be avoided by leaving this hint in mind.

Rev. Dr. Goodell had a large and attentive audience at the North church on Sunday morning to listen to his description of "Bright Days in Jerusalem." The discourse, embodying the results of his observations and impressions, was highly interesting and contained much of interest concerning this city, of which he spoke as "the centre of religious thought for thirty centuries." The peculiarities of this city which, while now containing only 15,000 inhabitants, comprised 200,000 in Solomon's time, and its people were described. In studying the city so fraught with biblical history and associations, contrasting it with its former greatness, and in noting the changes that have come to this religious metropolis, he well terms the time passed there as "Bright Days in Jerusalem."

Personal.

Rev. Dr. Goodell and family started for their St. Louis home on Tuesday after nearly five weeks' rest in this place, during which time the doctor nearly recovered his old-time vigor. He goes back to his work with renewed zeal and an earnest purpose to use his strength faithfully in the field where his labors have been so abundantly rewarded.

Miss Olive Abbe of East Windsor Hill, Conn., is visiting friends in town.

D. W. Robinson of Barton, employed in the scale works, is to take the place of the late F. J. Dalton as traveling agent for the American Cultivator.

W. C. Stoddard and John Canby are very low of typhoid fever. Albert Caswell is improving slightly. S. D. Graves is very low of inflammation of the bowels and lead poisoning.

Excursion to Boston.

The Lake road have arranged for an excursion to Boston to-day and to-morrow, tickets good to return on or before Wednesday, Nov. 5. Tickets for the round trip from St. Johnsbury will be sold for $6, and one may go on trains leaving at 10:15 a. m. and 12:30 (night express). Returning leave Boston at 7:30 a. m., arriving at 4:25 p. m. As the fare is announced to leave on Saturday, all desiring to attend this great exhibition should take advantage of this opportunity.

Sad Affliction.

Abah Doying, the eldest child of Charles E. and Martha Doying, died of typhoid fever Sunday night, in her fourteenth year. Abah was an interesting girl, lovely in her disposition and spirit, an excellent scholar, and had come to be of great help and comfort to her mother. It was only a year ago that this family were called upon to bury two little boys of diphtheria and now they lose their oldest girl beloved. Two other children are severely ill of the same fever, while the mother has just got up from a slow fever. If the Lord loveth in proportion to the weight of chastisement, there are those here who have a deep hold on his love. Abah's funeral was attended on Monday by a number of her mates in the public school and Sunday school, and her teacher and mates sent some beautiful floral offerings.

Matrimonial.

Charles P. Robinson, formerly of this town, and Miss Emma M. Brickett of Lowell, Mass., were married at the residence of the bride's father, Edmund Brickett, on Wednesday afternoon of last week. Rev. E. A. Smith of Somerville, formerly of Lowell, performing the ceremony beneath a beautiful floral arch and bell. A reception was held in the evening, which was very largely attended. One of the ushers was Charles Brickett of Lawrence. The couple make a wedding tour to New York. Some valuable gifts were shown, among which were a full silver set, including knives and forks, table and tea spoons, from the bride's mother, and a full crockery set from her father, a cake-baker set from her Sunday-school class, a handsome piece of silver ware from Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Noyes and $50 in gold from Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Robinson of St. Johnsbury. The groom is proprietor of a grocery in Lowell. The couple will have the kind wishes of many friends in this place, where Mr. Robinson is well and favorably known.

The Y. M. C. A. Work.

About sixty-five members of the various committees enjoyed a social tea at the hall on Tuesday evening. After tea informal reports were made by the chairman of the devotional, mission, hotel, membership, lecture, entertainment, reception, building, boys' entertainment, distribution and evening class committees.

A series of "Practical talks" will be given during the winter, for young men only, commencing at 7:30 p. m., giving clerks and those engaged in the early part of the evening an opportunity of hearing them, and will occupy about three-quarters of an hour. The first one will be given on Friday evening by Prof. S. H. Brickett, on "Chemistry" (with experiments). The others will be as follows, the dates to be announced later: "Digestion," Dr. T. Brooks; "Telegraphy" (illustrated), E. A. Silsby; "Physical Reverence," Dr. T. R. Grox; "The Teeth," Dr. J. L. Perkins; "The Brain," Dr. H. S. Calderwood; "Use and Abuse of the Eye," C. M. Carpenter; "The Body," Dr. G. B. Ballard.

There will also be entertainments for boys. Twenty-two new members have been added to the roll of the association during the year. Evening classes in book-keeping, arithmetic, and penmanship, with talks upon banking, &c., will soon be announced, also semi-monthly lessons in electricity, or something of the kind, if a sufficient number desire to join.

Diphtheria Epidemic.

The Barton Monitor says diphtheria has become an epidemic in that village, and mentions two recent deaths and seven or eight more children who are dangerously ill. The Monitor adds: "It will be seen that the situation is such as to create alarm and demand the most prompt and thorough efforts on the part of the people, if not of the village authorities, to put the place in a better sanitary condition, that the progress of this fatal disease may be stayed. We suggest that every owner of a house or tenement at once clean every sink drain, privy, stable and other place where there is any offensive or dangerous matter, using common dirt, carbolic acid, copperas, chloride of lime and other disinfectants to cleanse and purify all that seems promotive of disease. We have often seen it stated that boiling hot copperas water is one of the best things that can be used to cleanse sink drains and other places that produce the germs of disease. This is cheap and should be used liberally. Many burn sulphur and tar to cleanse the air of the house. The proper use of sulphur and camphor may be a preventive of the disease. Diphtheria is contagious in a degree, and great caution should be taken not to expose the children. It is said that it is given by those who are getting up from it, more than in the early stages of the disease, and those whose children have lately had it should keep them away from others, especially from the school. A few years ago, when we investigated the cause of the spread of that terribly fatal diphtheria in Newark, we decided that much of it resulted from the sending of a child to school who had the contagion about his person."

The Story of Layyah Barakat.

The North church has seldom been so well filled as on Sunday evening to hear the story, from her own lips, of this native Syrian missionary. A writer in the Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette says: "Her voice is music itself; her pronunciation nearly perfect, with a soft accent that makes our English words almost beautiful. Her construction of sentences is faulty, and her tones are mixed, but that scarcely detracts from the quaint beauty of her language, while the simplicity and earnestness of her manner carry wonderful power. She speaks off-hand, rapidly, never pausing for a word." She prefaced her story by the quotation, "Cast thy bread upon the waters and it shall return to thee after many days." The meaning and force of this sentence was illustrated by the sowing has occupied a place in the same choir for about half a century. An unusual and honorable service.

George M. Frye has sold his interest in the skating rink at Barton and returned to Danville and will spend a few weeks with his parents.

Mrs. J. F. Page and son of St. Johnsbury are visiting relatives and friends in town this week.

North Danville.

The Manchester, Ia., Press publishes a detailed account of an interesting event which occurred in that place Oct. 8, in which many people in this section will be interested, being the marriage of William L. Drew, son of George R. Drew of this place, and Miss Laura Cowell. A large number were in attendance at the nuptial ceremonies, and great preparations had been made to make it an enjoyable occasion. The hour of 5:30 p. m. had been selected, and the home of the bride was illuminated from top to bottom. The folding doors between the library and the parlor were thrown open and she festooned with evergreens and choice flowers as to form an arbor, beneath which hung two letters, "D" and "C," formed of dainty white flowers, that rested over the bride and groom while the ceremony was being performed. At the right and left of the arbor stood two large vases filled with foliage bouquets. On the parlor centre-table was large pyramid of tuberoses and rose geraniums, by the side of which was a basket bouquet of running rose leaves, with the two letters, "D" and "C." On the sitting-room centre table was another pyramid of flowers, every mantle was filled with vases of elegant bouquets, and, indeed, the whole house presented the appearance of a floral hall. Among the presents were two elegant chairs, a marble top centre table, a beautiful hanging lamp, full sets of silver, china and glass ware, table linens, blankets, toilet sets, and a great variety of other useful and ornamental articles.

Rev. A. P. Tracy will take for his subject next Sabbath, "Our National Crisis."

The village school closed last Friday—Ida Woodard and family have moved to Melrose. Mr. Harris has moved into the house he recently purchased of Mrs. Woodard and Kelly. He has moved into the house vacated by Mr. Harris.

Byron Varnum and wife have returned from their western trip, but Mr. V.'s health is not greatly improved.

Mrs. F. G. Stanton has returned from Woburn, where she has been taking care of her father, A. H. Smith. Mr. S. is considerably improved in health.

Now is the time to trade at the store in North Danville, as George is in the best of trading moods just now. For particulars, see marriage notices.

The cider-mill which Elgin Gates put in this season is kept busy (we are sorry to say) by the farmers in this vicinity.

St. Johnsbury Centre.

The fifteenth marriage anniversary of John W. Leonard and wife was observed on Thursday evening and was one of the largest ever had in this place. A large number were present and left gifts to the value of over $100.

Miss Nettie M. Wheeler is at home on a visit.

East St. Johnsbury.

Last Sunday evening some miscreant entered the meeting house sheds of the Congregational church and took all the whips out of the wagons present and broke them up and threw them on the ground. He also stole the horse blanket from Rev. C. F. Morse's wagon. Mr. Morse preached there that evening.

Shedfield.

Rev. Mr. Brigham of Barton preached here at the M. E. church last Sabbath on an exchange with Rev. L. P. Chase. We understand that the store owned by Mr. Christy is soon to be filled with goods, making a little competition in that line of business here.

Mr. Edwards is putting in a new bay window and intends to have a place for their beautiful plants, and allow us all to look at them.

Mr. H. P. King's child still holds on to life but it is thought it cannot live long.

Walden.

At the twelfth annual meeting of the Woman's board of missions at Rutland last week, addresses were made by Miss Abbie Child of Boston, secretary of the woman's board, Mrs. Montgomery of Turkey and Mrs. Barakat of Syria, Dr. Goodell of St. Louis and Mrs. Gyles Merrill. Four hundred ladies packed for the collation in the church parlors at noon. The meeting was the largest, most interesting and successful yet held.

Frank Welch, a mason by trade and belonging to Burlington, died in the general hospital, Boston, in consequence of a compound fracture of his right leg received three days before.

Local Notice.

E. L. Bartholomew, a piano tuner of more than twenty-five years' experience, will soon be in town for a few days. Orders may be left at W. H. Nelson's music store.

WATSON'S COMB AND TOILET CASE. To whom it may concern: Words are inadequate to express my gratitude to Dr. Gage for my successful restoration to health. I was afflicted with spinal disease which had caused total loss of power in my lower extremities—could not even move a foot the least particle—and my bowels had not only become extremely constipated, but the kidneys and bladder had become so affected that I was obliged to use a catheter nearly two years. I was unable to be carried to him, and therefore as a last resort was treated by him without the advantage of a personal interview. It was a perfect success, for in a few weeks I was cured of the kidney and bladder disease, the strength gradually returned to my limbs, until today I visited the doctor at St. Johnsbury to tender my heart-felt gratitude which words are inadequate to express. Sincerely yours, CHARLES L. BEYFORD, Northampton, N. H.

CATHERINE A. SCOTT, an orphan, EATON THROUGH THE ROOF OF THE HOUSE. Anne Young, wife of Perry Dwyer, N. H., has been a great sufferer from scrofula and catarrh. When he applied to Dr. Tracy, in this city, the disease had made such progress that a large effort had been made through the roof of the mouth, rendering it impossible for him to speak plainly. The terrible disease yielded quickly to Dr. Gage's treatment, the scrofula was much reduced, he gained about 20 pounds in flesh, and altogether, he says he "feels like a new man." A most wonderful cure—Gordon Statesman.

The above from the Statesman is substantially true, and I remain well since my treatment, two years ago. ANNE YOUNG, STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE, ROCKINGHAM CO., N. H. News and subscribers to before me this tenth day of Oct. 1884. FRED R. FLEIGH, Justice of the Peace.

Dr. Gage's next visit to the St. Johnsbury House, Monday, Nov. 3. 65-6
